Company PVC Policies

In response to the toxic lifecycle of PVC, a growing list of companies have committed to phase out PVC and switch to safe and healthy products. The following list of companies have developed PVC phase-out policies. These companies include Honda, Johnson and Johnson, Kaiser Permanente, Mattel, Microsoft, Nike, Sony, and Wal-Mart. For additional information about many of these company policies, visit the BE SAFE Precautionary Policy Clearinghouse and Greenpeace's list of PVC worldwide restrictions.

If your company is not on this list and has committed to phasing out PVC, is already PVC-free, or if any information is incorrect, please contact us so we can feature your sustainability efforts.
